Sec. 2-353. Considering Conviction History in Employment Decisions
(a) Identifying position as requiring background check The employer shall not conduct background checks on applicants unless the employer has made a good faith determination that the relevant position is of such sensitivity that a background check is warranted or if a background check is required by law.

(b) Posting job announcements. All job announcements and position descriptions shall contain the following information if the position requires a background check, unless otherwise required by law: "This position is subject to a background check for any convictions directly related to its duties and responsibilities. Only job-related convictions will be considered and will not automatically disqualify the candidate."
(c) Job applications. Job applications shall not inquire into an applicant’s conviction history.

(d) Notice of rights. Prior to any conviction history check, the employer shall send the applicant a conditional offer letter, notice of rights under this ordinance, and a request for authorization to conduct a background check, if so required.

(e) Limitation to conviction history. The employer shall not use or access the following criminal records in relation to a background check: records of arrest not followed by a valid conviction, sealed, dismissed, or expunged convictions, misdemeanor convictions where no jail sentence can be imposed, and infractions.

(f) Conviction history inquiry. The employer shall not inquire into or consider an applicant’s conviction history until after the applicant has received a conditional offer. If the employer is considering the conviction history of the applicant, the employer shall consider job-related convictions only. If a statute explicitly requires that certain convictions are automatic bars to employment, then those convictions shall be considered as well. Otherwise, no person shall be disqualified from employment, solely or in part because of a prior conviction, unless it is a job-related conviction. In determining if a conviction is job-related, the employer shall consider:

1. Whether the conviction is directly related to the duties and responsibilities of that employment position;
2. Whether the position offers the opportunity for the same or a similar offense to occur;
3. Whether circumstances leading to the conduct for which the person was convicted will recur in the position; and
4. The length of time since the offense occurred.

(g) Pre-adverse action notice. If an applicant’s conviction history contains information that may be the basis for an adverse action, the employer shall:

1. Identify the conviction item(s) that are the basis for the potential adverse action;
2. Provide a copy of the conviction history report, if any;
3. Provide examples of mitigation or rehabilitation evidence that the applicant may voluntarily provide; and
4. Provide the applicant with an individualized assessment as described below.

(h) Individualized assessment. A job-related conviction shall not be the basis for an adverse action if the applicant can show evidence of mitigation or rehabilitation and present fitness to perform the duties of the position sought. The applicant shall have ten (10) business days, after issuance of the notice, to respond with any information rebutting the basis for the adverse action, including challenging the accuracy of the information and submitting mitigation or rehabilitation evidence. The employer shall hold the position open until it makes the final employment decision based on an individualized assessment of the information submitted by the applicant and the factors recommended by the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

(i) Evidence of mitigation or rehabilitation. Evidence of mitigation or rehabilitation may be established by:

1. Evidence showing that at least one year has elapsed since release from any correctional institution without subsequent conviction of a crime; and evidence showing compliance with terms and conditions of probation or parole; or
2. Any other evidence of mitigation or rehabilitation and present fitness provided, including, but not limited to, letters of reference.

(j) Final notice. If the employer makes an adverse decision, the applicant shall be informed of the final decision and that he or she may be eligible for other positions.

(k) Confidentiality. Any information pertaining to an applicant’s background check obtained in conjunction with the hiring process shall remain confidential, and shall not be used, distributed, or disseminated by the employer or any of its agencies, or its vendors, to any other entity, except as required by law.

Sec. 2-354. Prohibition on Inquiries into Wage History.

(a) Prospective employees. The City shall not inquire about a prospective employee’s wage history, require disclosure of wage history, or condition employment or consideration for an interview or employment on disclosure of wage history, or retaliate against a prospective employee for failing to comply with any wage history inquiry or for otherwise opposing any act made unlawful by this ordinance.
(b) Salary or contract negotiations. The City shall not rely on the wage history of a prospective employee from any current or former employer of the individual in determining the wages for such individual at any stage in the employment process, including the negotiation or drafting of any employment contract, unless such applicant knowingly and willingly disclosed his or her wage history to the employer, employment agency, employee, or agent thereof.

(c) Job applications. Job applications shall not inquire into an applicant’s wage history.

Sec. 2-355. Vendors

(a) The City encourages vendors that do business with the City to adopt and employ conviction and wage history policies, practices, and standards that are consistent with City standards outlined in this chapter.

(b) During the bid or contracting process, the Awarding Authority can review all vendors’ conviction and wage history policies for consistency with City standards. The vendors’ conviction and wage history standards can be part of the criteria to be evaluated by the City when determining whether to award a City contract. Further, the City will be able to evaluate a vendor’s execution of the conviction and wage history standards as a part of the performance criteria of said City contract(s). The Awarding Authority can, if it so chooses, consider these conviction and wage history standards when considering all City contracts.

Sec. 2-356. Compliance

(a) Records. The employer shall retain application forms, records of employment, and other pertinent data and records required under this chapter, including but not limited to, communication with the applicant, for a minimum of three years, and shall allow access to such records to appropriate entities if a dispute shall arise regarding the provisions of this chapter.

(b) Data Collection. The employer shall maintain a record of the number of positions requiring background checks and for those positions, shall maintain a record of the number of applicants and the number of applicants who were provided a conditional offer.
